With the return of Countess Cassini, the Russian Embassy, is again the rendezvous for the younger representative of the smart set, of which she has long been the leader.

The gloom that settled over the Japanese legation during the recent illness of the Minister, Mr. Takahira, was lifted on the Emperor's birthday, when, according to their time-honored custom, the members of the Regation staff, gave an elaborate dinner in honor of the day.

At the German Embassy, elaborate preparations are being made for the entity tainment of the distinguished party the Emperor will send to represent him Novembor 19th, at the unveiling of the statue of Frederick the Great. The Baroness Von Sternberg, who will play the leading role at the unveiling, as well as at the many functions incident thereo, is temporarily confined to the Embassy, Because of her laneness her health is never robust, so her present indisposition is causing no alarm, and no change of plans is anticipated.

Though few people in Washington knew her as Miss Lily Langham, of Kentucky, the Baroness has made friends rapidly since her return to America as hosses of an important embassy, and she now counts them by the hundred among her countrymen, as well as among the foreign delegations located here, Pottic and dainty in appearance, vivacious and attractive in mainner, she is usually the center of an interesting ceteric of clever people, and being a brilliant conversa-

The coming of Viadimir de Pachmann November 25th is a much anticipated event in the musical circles. The programme will be devoted to the music of Chopin, in the interpretation of which de Pachmann is at his best.

This week Ada Rehan in the School for Scandal, has been the attraction par excellence at the New National Theatre, and the fact that Miss Fola La Foliette was playing the part of Lady Teasle's maid gave a national interest to the performance, that was especially noticeable on election night.

noticeable on election night.

The marriage of Miss Margaret C. Mohler and Dr. Edward Allen Pease, of Boston, which took place November 12th, at the home of the bride, in Pittsburg, was attended by a number of prominent Washingtonians. The bride was attended by Miss Althea Mohler, who, it will be remembered, was also maid of honor for Miss Rebecca Knox, whose marriage was of such a recent date that the honeymoon was abrevlated in order that Mr. and Mrs. Tindie might attend the wedding of their friend. Both couples left later for the Virginia Hot Sprigs, where they fell into the hands of friends, and are being entertained to the point of boredom.

Another wedding of interstate interest is that of Miss Iva Mac Gibson, of Rome, Ga., and Mr. John C. Reese, which is announced to take place November 30th at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. M. A feature of the evening will be the reassemuling of old families whose members have been prominent in the social life of the capital for nent in the social life of the capital for several generations.

The sixty-couple cotilion, which will be given early in December, will witness an-other such gathering, as admission to this select dancing club is supposed to be this select dancing club is supposed to be by grace of having Washington as a birthplace and the gentle manners of one's parents. The membership is hy invitation, and is in charge of a committee representing the old resident set, with the chairman, Mrs. Charles H. Campbell, daughter of Admiral Portor.

That an American boy of twelve years should be invited to collaborate with royalty in writing grand opera, is pleasant news to many people on this side, but especially is it a source of pride to residents of Chicago and Washington, where the tad and his fiddle playing are well-known. It was during the first McKinley administration when Lyman J. Gage, then Secretary of the Treasury, discovered Florizol Router, and, believing that the lad would prove another Paginini, offered to educate him abroad. Pending the arrangements for a trip, that was to extend over two years, Mr. Gage introduced his protege to a fashionable Washington audience. The programme given by the young virtuose was a marvel to the musical world, and the recital, an important event of the social season.

Orleans.

Though not so personally in touch with Mashington life, another lad of tender years is the object of deep interest here because of his unusual attainments. I refer to Guy Carlion Holt, of Long Island, whose up-to-date version of Merchant of Venice is entitled "The Merchant of New York," and brings in such characters as Andrew Carnegie, Mark Twain, and Mr. Dooley.

What Sulphur Boes

For the Human Body in Health and

The mention of sulphur will recall to many of us the early days when our mothers and grandmothers gave us our daily dose of sulphur and molasses every spring and fall.

It was the universal spring and fall

It was the universal spring and fall "blood purifier," tonic and cure-all, and, mind you, this oid-fashloned remedy was not without merit.

The idea was good, but the remedy was crude and unpalatable, and a large quantity had to be taken to got any effect.

Nowadays we get all the beneficial affects of sulphur in a palatable, concentrated form, so that a single grain is far more effective than a tablespoonful of the crude sulphur.

In recent years research and experiment have proven that the best sulphur for medicinal use is that obtained from Calcium (Calcium Sulphide), and sold in drug stores under the name of Stuart's

Calcium (Calcium Sulphido), and sold in drug stores under the name of Suart's Calcium Wafers. They are small chocolate conted pellets, and contain the active medicinal principle of sulphur in a highly concentrated, effective form. Few people are aware of the value of this form of sulphur in restoring and maintaining bodily vigor and health; sulphur acts directly on the liver and excreavy organs, and purifies and curiches tory organs, and purifies and enriches the blood by the prompt elimination of the blood by the prompt elimination of waste material.

Our grandmothers know this when they dosed us with sulphur and molasses every spring and fall, but the crudity and impurity of ordinary flowers of sulphur, were often worse than the disease, and cannot compare with the modern contentrated preparations of sulphur, of which Stuart's Calcium Wafers is undoubtedly the best and most widely used. They are the natural antidote for liver and kidney troubles, and cure constipation and purify the blood in a way that often surprises patient and physician alike.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 12.—Though residents of the District had no voting bootis on Tuesday, and are taxed without having representation, it may be doubted if in any other place the air was more tense with election excitement than in Washington, with its voting strength spread over forty-four Sintes, three Territories, and some recently acquired islands of the seas. In fact, it may be said, that the only persons totally indifferent to the results of the election were the debutantes and foreign diplomats. And, as the former are nothing more than auticipated members of society, the week was socially given over to the diplomatic corps.

The carly days of November marked the gathering of the clans, so that by election day each of the thirty-eight foreign powers were again personally represented at the capital. Old friends are welcomed back and new acquaintances made, as many visitors stop here en route to and from the St. Louis Fair. Among the latter are the Earl and Countess of Dartmouth, who have this week been spending a few days with Lady Durand at the Brillish Embassy, and were entertained at luncheon by the President, Later they were shown the sights of the city. The Library of Congress was the particular object of their attention, and they were generous in their praise of its beauty.

CURED OF ECZEMA BY CUTICURA

I had suffered terrible agony and pain for eight long years from a terrible eczema on the scalp and face. The best doctors were unable to help me, and I had spent a lot of money for many remedies without receiving any benefit. My scalp was covered with scabs, my face was like a piece of raw beef, my eyebrows and lashes were falling out, and sometimes I felt as if I was burning up from the terrible itching and pain. I then began treating myself at home, and now my head and face are clear, and I am entirely well. I first bathed my face with Cuticura Soap, then applied Cuticura Ointment to the afflicted parts, and took Cuticura Resolvent for the blood. To my surprise and joy I was greatly relieved after the first application, and continued use of the Cuticura remedies soon made a complete cure. (Signed) Miss MARY F. FAY, Westhoro, Mass.
